

Help us ensure that our community will be “Ready When the Time Comes”! Corporate Volunteer Partnership Program

Be Ready

.....to help your community when disaster strikes.

The American Red Cross would like to partner with your business or organization to train your employees to be a volunteer team that can quickly mobilize and fill specific needs when a large-scale disaster strikes.

Following a large-scale disaster, the American Red Cross typically receives many calls from people who want to help, but what's really needed are volunteers who have had some prior disaster training.

This innovative partnership will help people in communities affected by disasters, whenever and wherever they occur.

Become a “Ready When the Time Comes” Disaster Volunteer!

- Attend a three hour training in Disaster Assessment or Shelter Operations
- Commit to Volunteering For at Least One Day During a Large-Scale Disaster

If you would like to hear more about the American Red Cross Corporate Volunteer Program, Ready When the Time Comes, contact Nancy Olson, 843-764-2323 x 321 or olsonn@usa.redcross.org, www.LowcountryRedCross.org

National Founding Sponsor
GRAINGER
FOR THE ONES WHO GET IT DONE

 piggly wiggly
Feeds your life.